PS-1

I am a support team member handling incoming tickets
I'm trying to assign tickets to the correct team quickly and accurately
But the current manual process is time-consuming and prone to errors
Because there is no automated system to route tickets based on issue type or category
Which makes me feel frustrated and overwhelmed due to delays and repeated reassignment of tickets

I am a user/customer raising a support request
I'm trying to get my issue resolved as quickly as possible
But my tickets are often delayed or assigned to the wrong team
Because there is no efficient routing mechanism in place
Which makes me feel dissatisfied and lose trust in the support system
